Design description

KELLO B is a triple pendant lamp from the Kello family - elegant and minimalist, created for larger spaces that need both light and expressive form. Each of the three points of light is a combination of a hemispherical metal shade, milky white glass and an ornate ashwood ball that introduces a warm, natural accent. It all rests on a slender design that maintains a visual lightness despite its elaborate form.

Kello means "clock" in Estonian. Although Kello lamps do not indicate the time, they will certainly turn every second into a great(l)time! This is a lamp that not only illuminates, but also organizes the space - it brings rhythm, balance and soft glow to it. It is ideally suited for japandi, retro, loft or modern classic style.

Lamp components and functionality

KELLO B is available in two classic color variants: timeless black RAL 9005 or pure white RAL 9003. Metal lampshades, glass diffusers (⊠15 cm) and decorative ash wood balls create a coherent and elegant composition. The three points of light are suspended from steel cables and polyester braided wires, set on a 40 cm wide metal headliner.

The lamp uses interchangeable light sources (3x G9, LED max 12W), which allows you to choose the right color and power of light to suit the character of the interior - from cozy atmosphere to functional work lighting.

Application and IP20 protection class

KELLO B will work best in spacious dining rooms, over a kitchen island (in dry areas), in living rooms or in commercial spaces - such as cafes, showrooms or offices. IP20 rating means that the lamp is designed for dry interiors only and should not be used in areas exposed to moisture.

With the presence of other models in the series as well - the KELLO A pendant lamp, the KELLO ST table lamp and the KELLO C wall lamp - you can easily create a cohesive set of lighting within a single arrangement, combining decorative, utilitarian and atmospheric functions.

Handcrafted and unique

Each Kello lamp is assembled by hand to order, with the utmost attention to detail. The decorative ball of solid ash has a unique grain pattern, giving each piece an individual character. This is a lamp for those who value conscious choice, not mass production.

Why will you love it?

- Because it combines minimalist design with natural materials.
- Because it is available in two colors - RAL 9005 black or RAL 9003 white - which gives you the freedom to match the interior.
- Because its form illuminates the space without dominating it visually.
- Because it fits into homes and commercial spaces.
- Because it's part of a cohesive collection that you can adapt to different lighting zones.
- Because it is handmade - with attention to every detail.
