Description

Design description

ROKKE STONE is a wall luminaire that combines elegance and with a distinct geometric character. Its form is based on a flattened oval - a shape often found in the modernist architecture of Gdynia, which UMMO treats as a symbol of functionality combined with visual harmony. This detail - subtle but recurring in the design language of the interwar era - became the starting point for the creation of the wall sconce.

For the STONE version, UMMO opted for a more refined finish - a matte glazed stoneware surface. This is a material with a subdued texture, which resembles natural stone, and at the same time perfectly fits the aesthetics of interiors that are frugal in form, but require a more refined finish.

ROKKE STONE is designed for customers who are looking for a compromise between modern minimalism and eye-catching detail - without shouting, but rather building a consistent and mature character for a premium space.

The name ROKKE refers to the Norwegian word for stingray - a sea creature whose movement and form are the source of visual inspiration for this fixture. The lamp's softly splayed body, with gently sloping lines, evokes the fluid, organic movement of a stingray gliding just above the ocean floor.

This subtle motif of nature has been translated into the language of modern design - where streamlined form meets geometric discipline. ROKKE is a lamp with a distinct character, which brings into the interior not only light, but also a sense of fluidity, calmness and visual lightness.

Lamp components and functionality

The body of the lamp is made of glazed stoneware, which gives it an elegant and modern look. A decorative metal element adds sophistication and subtle shine to the lamp

ROKKE STONE is equipped with two LED light sources with G9 thread, each of up to 12W, which allows you to adjust the intensity of the lighting to your individual needs. The dimensions of the lamp are: 3,8 x 21 x 56,6 cm. These proportions make the lamp look slim and elegant even in a limited space.

Application and IP20 protection class

With an IP20 rating, ROKKE STONE is ideal for dry areas such as living rooms, bedrooms and hallways. It can serve as accent or auxiliary lighting, adding elegance and modernity to the interior.
